They employed up to ten (10) individuals providing them with training that could be applied to obtaining jobs in the construction industry. These individuals helped in the construction of sidewalks as well as other duties. To date six (6) of the individuals were still in the program. The participants have completed 40,461 square feet of new sidewalks and also assisted in the city-wide cleanup of storm debris following the 2012 winter storm.

The ultimate goal is to hire some of the temporary workers full time once they have completed the program or help them transition into the private sector workforce with the skills that they have learned.

Ms. Nayles and Mr. Honeywell noted that $500,000 had been spent on the program which included hiring four (4) individuals to oversee the ten (10).

Dr. Whitfield asked how the four (4) employees were paid. Mr. Honeywell indicated that they were paid out of prevention intervention (PIT) funds. Mr. Bryan Day explained that the goal was to get away from paying them out of PIT funds in 2014.
